ROYAL FAMILY.

It is with pride and pleasure, and with a deep sense of privilege too, that Gaumont British News presents these pictures of our Royal Family. With his duties ever before him, and in this Coronation year surrounded as he is with all the traditional pomp of sovereignty, His Majesty is happily able to relax in the quiet surroundings of domestic life. And so we close this brief interlude --- leaving this quiet backwater of home life to return once more to the official duties that fall to the lot of monarchy.

KING GEORGE V MEMORIAL.

Beneath the stately Towers of ancient Windsor Castle a crowd of men and women stood to cheer the arrival of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. With Queen Mary, and the Duke amd Duchess of Gloucester and the Duke and Duchess of Kent Their Majesties approache the ceremony of unveiling the Windsor Memorial to our late beloved King, George V. Many hundreds stood bareheaded for the service, to p pay homage; to hear the first public speech of King George VI; and to hear the blessing of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

AUSTRALIANS' TENNIS.

Los Angeles -- an exhibition by members of Australia's Davis Cup team. Leading them once again is the veteran Jack Crawford, while the baby of the four is Johhny Bromwitch, who may be a future world champion. With Adrian Quist and Vivian McGrath they form a four that will be hard to beat.
