Ten, Downing Street is to be the home of the Canadian Torch of Victory, sent to mark the success of our oldest Dominion's £200,000,000 War Loan.

On Parliament Hill, Ottawa, a spectacular ceremony took place before the Torch was sent to England. The accompanying scroll was signed by the Earl of Athlone, Governor General; by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and by the Premiers of nine provinces. At Halifax, Nova Scotia, there was another ceremonial parade.

Premier MacMillan appended his signature. Victoria, British Columbia, witnessed similar enthusiasm. There, the scroll was packed for the first stage of its air journey to London.

Mr. Churchill read the message of the scroll and saw the names of those who had signed it and avowed their faith in the cause for which the Empire fights.

PRIME MINISTER'S SPEECH:

How long "How long that <sup>or</sup>wicked man will torture and afflict the nations, or what direction he will set his murder machine in motion we cannot tell. One thing we are sure, <sup>either</sup> he will be, he and his villainous crew will be delivered to the doom and the shame which is their due and that we ourselves shall have the honour of having had something to do with that....Thank you very much."
