

R/A/F% BLAST WALCHEREN

Bomber command lent a hand in the attack on the Scheldt estuary. The main operations were carried out by Lancasters against the island of Walcheren. Stationed there were heavy coastal defences and powerful concentrations of anti-aircraft fire. The R.A.F. planned to silence the batteries and flood the island by breaching the sea wall.

The operations were an outstanding success. Twelve gaps were torn in the sea wall, some of them one hundred yards long. Control of the Scheldt estuary will enable the allies to use Antwerp as a port.
