

FARMING MAKES BRAVE SHOW AT BATH AND WEST

The famous Agricultural show known as the Bath and West was graced by the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester. Nature and British farming have come up smiling. More highly mechanised than agriculture in any other country, ~~in the~~ ~~world~~ our cultivators have launched an all-out effort to wipe out the losses of the winter. Grain dryers, much wanted in last autumn's drenching harvest, and apparatus for destroying soil-pests by steam are among latest scientific aids to growing more and more food. In ^tbreeding heavy horses this country is unrivalled. The shires and percherons of our farms are the envy of ~~many~~ many ~~nations~~ nations.

~~The~~ *J*udges declared that the sheep exhibited, especially of the Hampshire Downs breed, were of first rate quality despite the ordeal of the worst winter on record.

British cattle, like sheep, are much in demand by breeders in many parts of the world. One way and another it looks as though agriculture ^e is making a great come-back. The ~~little~~ little Irish Kerry cattle were much admired.

Pitt (Duke) A Southdown prize winner ~~was Pitt~~ Pitt proud product of the farming country that will never say die.
