

FILM GARDEN PARTY

Fully twenty thousand people crowded the beautiful Morden Hall Park where film-favourites by the jeep-load were the star attraction. At close quarters, ~~in the flesh~~ ^{the moviegoer saw} ~~the cinema stars~~ the talented performers who delight us on the screen. You could hardly move without bumping into say ^{David Farrar or} Anna Neagle, or a hundred others equally famous. In addition there was all the fun of the fair. That bright spark Jack Warner, with his wife, talked with Naunton Wayne, and in the intervals of staring at the stars the public patronized the roundabouts.

Michael Wilding, ~~was~~ with Sally Gray.

Googie Withers helped out with the autograph ^{signing} ~~signing~~, which at half-a-crown ~~is~~ a time meant still more money for the Society ^{for} ~~of~~ the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Quite a touch of colour was lent the proceedings by Orlando Martin of the Inksspots. To be able to meet Margaret Lockwood in closeup, obtain her autograph, and then go off in search of Patricia Roc, was to get value indeed for the ticket money. Refreshments thrown in, too!
