ROYAL WINDSOR HORSE SHOW

The home park was an incomparable setting for the show at Windsor. The Royal Horse Guards set a high standard; competitors lived up to it.

The trade and agricultural class featured some fine horses which earn their living more prosaically than in show jumping. Nevertheless they include many time animals.

Over a nearby gate an old mag not in the stud book wondered, why all the fuss over these pampered jumpers? In the Ladies' Open Contest there was some riding of Olympics standard.

hamkhamamaddahamamadahama 6-year-old Eveon, a winner, bows the knee to no-one but her rider Miss Make Goodall.
