

Going up. Not only the girls but skirts too if Paris fashion leader Dior wins the day. He held a private show to convince women that the shorter skirt is becoming. Nobody knows better than Dior how to display his design to advantage, but this particular battle he may not win. The average girl does not favour the shorter skirt. ~~2252~~ 1953, therefore, may be the most memorable in all history, the one when women didn't follow the fashion. But don't gamble on it.

~~fact~~ Dior's 17-inch hemline almost shows the knee and women have decided that they look better with something longer. ~~human~~. Broadly speaking, that's the ^{big} issue: Will women be allowed to buy what they want, or will the fashion Kings keep their prestige in tact? ~~Or will Vychinsky apply~~

~~the veto?~~

Au revoir, ma chère,

~~Amour~~ Au revoir