

For the Light-Heavyweight Championship of Britain. Reg King's promotion at Nottingham Ice Stadium. The holder, Welshman Dennis Powell, against Alex Buxton of Watford; Buxton wearing trunks with the broad stripes.

20

41

Bruce Woodcock still hankers after ring triumph. He <sup>now</sup> saw Powell definitely getting the worst of it and pretty certain to lose if he couldn't ~~put over his celebrated~~ <sup>Knock Buxton out.</sup> ~~knock out punch.~~ <sup>But</sup> The Welshman went down himself in round 8. To ~~make~~ matters worse he had a bad cut under ~~his~~ left eye. Referee Tommy Little could see there was no hope for Powell. To save the gallant Welshman needless punishment he stopped the fight in round ten.

78

So the title changed hands. Alex Buxton is the new holder of the Lonsdale Belt.