

TROOPS RESTORE ORDER IN BRITISH GUIANA

In Georgetown, Capital of British Guiana, all is ~~quite~~ ^{quiet} again. Revolt was nipped in the bud. The frigate H.M.S. Burghead ^{BAY} reassuringly anchored in ~~Big Bay~~ Bay to put ashore troops brought over from Jamaica. The ~~troops~~ ^{soldiers} ~~and other personnel~~ proceeded to their quarters.

A Communist revolution having been avoided, plans for reform will rapidly go ahead. The Reds intended to exploit discontent in the Shanty Town housing the coloured labourers. ~~When conditions have been improved and the now suspended constitution restored the colony may expect happiness and prosperity.~~ On a sugar plantation our cameramen came upon one or two minor sabotage attempts, the last so far recorded.

The House of Assembly ~~will soon be~~ ^{see} ~~having~~ democratic government, freed from Red influence ~~and~~ ^{established in place.}
