

VIAREGGIO OPENS CARNIVAL SEASON

The new sport of undersea fishing wouldn't have known itself as represented by one of the big floats paraded at Viareggio, queen of the Italian Riviera. But it's the carnival, a feature of the life here for the last fifty years, <sup>marking</sup> back to the days when this fashionable resort was just a fishing village. 100,000 people poured into the place to see the first parade of the season. They had their money's worth. Viareggio claims to make the best floats in the world. So on with the motley; winter's over - down there at any rate.
