

ZARATHUSTRA WINS GOODWOOD CUP

If Goodwood was not quite its glorious self the weather was to blame. But on Goodwood Cup day it improved ^{a little.} Main interest for everybody on this lovely course, from Her Majesty downwards, lay in the possibility of ^{the} French invasion being defeated by Mr. Grey's Zarathustra. The five-year-old looked in good shape, but in Borghetto and Bewitched III he was very strongly opposed. Right from the start Garigliano went to the front, playing the part of pacemaker for his stable companion Borghetto. How long he'd keep up that role remained to be seen. The Goodwood Cup is a stayer's race of 2-miles and five furlongs.

~~ST~~ Garigliano still led as they came into the straight, but now his work was done and Borghetto went to the front, Bewitched and Zarathustra in hot pursuit. Borghetto faded. Then W. H. Carr called on his mount to make his effort and Zarathustra beat Bewitched by half-a-length.
