COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF SCENES

A very full description of the wedding appears in the Sunday Express, with all details etc...
 The locations were shot in this order....
 Outside the registrars office, coming & going....
 A drink and signing the book at the town hall, the bride & groom, toasting each other, with Max Aitken & wife looking on (Mrs Aitken in a pronounced striped dress) and on the quay at the back of Uffa's house or shipside.
 Here a posed picture, with the bride, groom, and a rather attractive daughter, of the bride, also in the picture is Max Aitken, who happens to be a great friend of Fox.....

At the regestra's office, the rather large character is the best man a Tiny Mitchell, Commodore of the Royal Corinthian Yacht club...included amongst the guests, were quite a few friends from France, the home of the bride...

A Uffa's ~~NY~~ quay, did a couple of shots of Cowes, it's where he has become famous, the two boats in the foreground, belong to the Duke of Edinboro'...

If we are using the story, perhaps it would improve the make up, with a couple of shots of Fox, I have shot quite a bit on him, in time past...
