

CAMBREMER WINS LEGER

Doncaster had a fine day to reward the big crowd, headed by the Queen, for the last classic of the season. Her Majesty had come down from Balmoral ^{hoping} to see her own horse first past the post. W. H. Carr was wearing the Queen's colours on High Veldt. But the favourite was the French horse Pont Levis. Cheers welcomed the Queen's arrival in the Royal Box.

13 came under starters orders and Mr. Marsh had no trouble getting them away.... Idle Rocks was the back marker, as the field dashed ~~away~~ ^{on} a-mile-and-three-quarters-plus 132-yards to go, as they settled down Pont Levis and Court Command led, followed by Talgo, High Veldt, Hornbeam and Articulate.

Pont Levis and Court Command held that position, and the only question was whether the favourite would stay the course.?

Three furlongs out Pont Levis faded. So did Court Command. Talgo went to the front ^{Hornbeam and} High Veldt very close, with Cambremer and French Beige coming along well. Then Fred Palmer gave Cambremer his head. But could he hold off the desperate challenge of Hornbeam... * Yes, Cambremer was first home by three-quarters of a length from Hornbeam; French Beige a length-and-a-half behind. At Cambremer ran a splendid race, brilliantly ridden by Palmer, adding the Leger to French triumphs in the Derby and Oaks.
