

MOTOR CYCLE HILL CLIMB.

Some motorists complain of the smallest bump on a tarmac road, but entrants for the hill-climbing contest at Waldene Hill near Farniggham took a grassy ~~gradient~~ gradient up to one in one and three-quarters and liked it. At least, if they didn't exactly like it, nobody was killed, and it was great fun for the spectators.

EMDEN.

Canada received the first visit of a German battleship since the Great War when the Emden docked at Montreal. Crew and cadets lined the deck as the cruiser came in and later the Captain went ashore for an official welcome.

FLYING CURATE.

At least one curate believes in keeping up with the times. Viscountess Falkland placed a cross of roses upon the propellor of the 'plane from which the Reverend Cyril Boulton conducted the first open air service using the cockpit as a pulpit. The flying curate hopes to attract as a congregation some of the many thousands who ~~express~~ spend their Sundays out of doors during the summer.

~~LEVEE~~ FOCH.

A monument to Marshal Foch was inaugurated at Lille by General Maurin and General Weygand, and thousands of war veterans marched past at the conclusion of the ceremony.

LEVEE.

His Majesty the King made the first state drive of his reign when he went with ~~an~~ a sovereign's escort of Horse Guards from Buckingham Palace to St James's. The occasion was the levee attended by 500 officers of the fighting services, diplomats and lawyers. The levee lasted for an hour, after which His Majesty returned to Buckingham Palace.
