

FILM STARS.

The Normandie brought back to England a load of film stars, including charming and beautiful Anna Neagle --- and Claud Allister, who is also charming. An American visitor was Zasu Pitts. She lost her luggage --- oh dear! Lovely Kay Francis came too and here she is outside her London hotel. Nearby our cameraman happened to spot Douglas Fairbanks and his wife --- formerly Lady Ashley --- and here from America is ^{a chat} ~~an interview~~ with Mary Pickford --- engaged to Buddy Rogers and receiving congratulations from Walt Disney.

~~EXTXSHOWX~~. MOLEISON.

3) Jim Mollison on his latest flight to the Cape took with him a French co-pilot Monsieur Corniglion-Molinier. Conditions were against them and they failed to break the record set up by Jim's wife. Their failure emphasises the great performance put up by Amy Mollison --- flying solo, it was a great triumph for her and her British machine.

CAT SHOWS.

4) This year the National Cat Club Show was held at Paddington --- ~~the~~ same to you! All the cats here have names like Wivelscombe Rosalie and Ashurstwood Jane, but it doesn't really matter because when you call it a cat never takes any notice anyway.

Another exhibition had a lot of the Siamese breed ~~on the show~~ on show. They're very nice and they like each other. Why did you give me that nasty look? Here is one little lady who put a drop of scotch in her morning milk --- and she got a bite out of it.
