

Italy pushed on the war in Abyssinia --- reaching Addis Ababa and celebrating the victory in Rome while the Black Emperor appealed at Geneva. Palestine lay in a ferment of racial prejudice and strong measures reduced ~~xx~~ chaos to order. Then Spain --- ~~xx~~ unhappy Spain --- the lazy, sunny garden of Europe locked itself in the death struggle between brother and brother. Almost the only cheerful note in foreign affairs was the engagement of Princess Juliana of the Netherlands to Prince Bernard zur Lippe Biesterfeld. But America, maintaining peace with the world, found trouble at home with riots and strikes. Paris at one time had ~~x~~ hundreds of men and women engaged in street fighting. But the biggest crowd of all turned out for the American election ---- President Roosevelt returned with an overwhelming majority. Gaumont British News secured exclusive pictures of the famous Quads. From bonny babies we saw them christened and we attended the first birthday celebrations. Prince Edward is Britain's most important young man, and these delightful studies show him at home with his royal parents. He is now ^{over a} year old. The outstanding pictorial event of the year was the presentation of Colours to the Guards, in Hyde Park. As King Edward rode back to the Palace there followed an amazing incident ~~in Constitution Hill~~ leading to a court case at Bow Street.
