DUKE OF GLOUCESTER HUNTING.

Exclusive to Gaumont British News --- a meet of the Belvoir Hunt near Melton Mowbray. In the large field attending was His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester.

FLYING BOATS.

No. 201 Flying Boat Squadron left Calshott for a cruise of the Mediterranean --- co-inciding with the Spring cruise of the ~~Home~~ Home Fleet. It is a flight that has no political significance, but comes merely in the normal course of flying exercises.

THE QUEEN MARY.

Getting ready for a Spring cruise of her own to America --- the Queen Mary is in dry dock at Southampton. New rivets and general repairs prepare the Queen of the Atlantic for new records. Just round the corner is the old Majestic; with shortened masts and funnels she is being turned into an Admiralty training ship. To finish our sea story we take you across the world, where men of the Royal Australian Navy are training as divers. It's all in the day's work to an Able Seaman, but the life of the ship depends on the work under water. Just as the life of the diver depends on the work on the ship. Too little air and the diver's life is ended. Too much --- and nothing can save him, except a puncture by a swordfish.
