

MILLWALL v MANCHESTER CITY.

333

A tremendous crowd saw football history made at the Den, when the London side from Division Three smashed their way through Round Six. While the home side were coming out the usual casualties were being passed down after having passed out. Then Manchester City came out. The toss up and the kick off were moments of breathless excitement --- the choice of end, and then the start of a match that meant so much. Millwall have been the surprise packet of the 1937 Ties --- could they possibly produce another win? ~~Their luck held in giving them so many matches at home --- but they've done some grand work on their own account too. Battering attacks on the Manchester City goal led to the home side's first triumph ---~~ The home side scored a corner and then playing his first Cup Tie for Millwall, Barker sent a header flying into the City net. ~~Then~~ half time --- bring out the lemons! In the second half Manchester City brought on all the football they knew ~~to force an equaliser but while the minutes slipped away,~~ the home side kept their end up. Then came another Millwall goal --- this time Mangnall got his head to it and scored ----- Millwall 2 Manchester City nil. That was the score at the final whistle --- and the crowd again went surging over the pitch --- cheering the only Third Division side ever to reach the semi-final.
