

UNIVERSITY DELEGATES.

338

London --- Delegates from the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge delivered addresses of congratulation to King George VI, on his accession. Heading the delegations were the Chancellors --- Mr Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister~~x~~, and Lord Halifax, ~~the~~ Lord Privy Seal.~~KI~~
KING OF THE BELGIANS.

Ascot --- His Majesty the King of the Belgians, on a visit to England, took exercise at the Berkshire Club in a four-ball golf match. His partner was Miss Pam Barton, the British holder of the British and American women's Championships. King Leopold himself is in the first flight, playing from a handicap of two.
AEROPLANES.

Riverside --- From March Field, attack squadrons took off for fighting drill. In a day of scurrying clouds, their wheeling and diving was as~~x~~ picturesque as it was efficient.
BOXING.

New York City --- Amateurs are still slogging away at each other, <sup>deciding</sup> ~~to decide~~ the fate of the Golden Gloves --- the highest ~~xxx~~ boxing honour in the States. And <sup>also</sup> in New York, boxing is the latest craze for the debutante. Let's hope they don't start mixed boxing, or we'll be seeing more clinching than ever. But it isn't likely --- for women must fight, and men must leap.
