ANGLING COMPETITION.

Optimism prevailed among the members of the New Brighton Pier Angling Club in spite of pouring rain, and the Mayor of Wallasey was present to give the meeting his official send-off. After the signal for the start had been given, members enthusiastically ignored the moisture that was dripping down their necks and fished and fished and fished. One of the most successful was the Mayor himself, who at a single blow ~~z~~ caught both a plaice and a sole.

DUDLEY ZOO.

It was moving day at Dudley when Elephants, Lions, Tigers, Wolves and Polar Bears travelled to take ^{up} residence, in their new quarters in the Zoo at Dudley Castle. The Earl of Dudley himself supervised the moving in of his four-legged friends, and our cameraman directed a watchful ~~eye~~ lens as the inmates accustomed themselves to the strange surroundings.
