

ENGINEERING EXHIBITION:

389

London --- after horse shows, Ideal Homes and Radio Shows, Olympia housed the Engineering and Marine exhibition. Members of the public were allowed to have a go, and gave an imitation of Ajax defying the lightning. Another interesting item was an electro-magnet, ⁹¹⁻ ~~it~~ can pick 19 hundredweight quicker than a film star can pick up a husband.

GOLF AT STOKE POGES.

On an autumn morning bright with sunshine Percy Alliss drove ~~from the first at Stoke Poges~~ ^{Win} the Twelve hundred and fifty pound tournament. His opponent in the final was James Adams of Royal Liverpool. This is virtually the professional match-play championship. Before many holes had been played, the rain came down in torrents and the sun went into the nineteenth.

~~The gallery got a soaking but the players went doggedly on.~~
Most of the greens became flooded and with Alliss leading three up on the first eighteen, play was abandoned for the day. The next day the sun returned for the final round. Alliss held on to his lead and he won by 3 and 2.
