

JAPAN --- MUNICH --- AMERICA. (Contd.)

From Germany we turn to the United States. Here too there are marching feet --- but they are the old comrades of the war of twenty years ago, American Legionaries left New York to visit Britain and the battlefields of France / ~~Listen to the words of~~ Governor Lehmann, who addressed them before they left.

This is a march that stands for peace, because the American people are determined that there shall be no more war for them. Now listen to the words of an American commentator who watched the march.
