

ARMISTICE.

~~One more year of peace has passed for Britain,~~ <sup>Once</sup> and again the crowds assembled in Whitehall. This year a new King attended the ceremony --- King George and Queen Elizabeth were received by the Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, and his under Secretary, Mr Geoffrey Lloyd, on their arrival at Clive Steps. The King placed his wreath upon the Cenotaph. Eleven o'clock --- and for two minutes a nation remembered in gratitude those who had laid down their lives. But ~~in~~ this year the solemnity of the occasion was disturbed by a man who broke shouting from the silent crowd. Police officers hustled him away and the service continued. Mr Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister, next laid a wreath ~~at the Cenotaph.~~ Completing the ceremony at the Cenotaph, King George walked down Whitehall to lay another wreath at the foot of the statue of Earl Haig.
