

HUSKIES RACE.

543

America's Dog Derby --- a dozen crack mushers of the north country at Ashton, Idaho racing for the National Championship. A six-foot snowfall shortened the course and even these hardy dog-teams found it tough going. ~~But~~ Here's the pack that raced on to victory --- eight and a half miles in thirty three minutes.

Now ski-jumping. The season is nearly over, but New Hampshire held a championship meeting and here it is. At 80 miles an hour the champions fought for a place in America's Olympic team, but some took a bone smashing dive for it. From a height equal to Niagara Falls --- sit down. Stand up! Sit down!
