

AUSTRALIAN BLIND STORY.

Over in Australia they take special care in the education of the blind. Here's Mr Tumley who devotes his life to teaching sightless children in South Brisbane. Here he is punching out Braille labels for the maps and globes, place names, trade routes and distances. A graduated ruler checked from divisions above and at the side, enable the students to find by touch any desired position on the map. Each county is identified by special touch symbols which also tell ~~xxx~~ to which nation each colony belongs. Though they are bereft of the priceless gift of sight, nevertheless these brave people can learn all ~~xxxxxxx~~ that can be learned about the different countries of the world. The models of buildings give them a knowledge of architectural form. They particularly study their own cities. Here's a model of Brisbane's impressive city hall. To ~~xxxx~~ the sensitive touch of the blind, details of roads, rivers, bridges and buildings are revealed. These men and women are keener than those gifted with sight. They help one another with a brave resolve of the blind overcoming their handicap by the aid of human ingenuity and human kindness.
