SOUTHLAND FASHIONS.

America hasn't yet found it necessary to put nearly half the feminine population in uniform --- and there's still more than a little grace and charm in these new fashions.. The prevailing style has the air of the old Southland --- taffetas, chiffons and organdie.

Fashions like these take the memory back to the days of the ~~old-time~~ old-time waltz. Modern sophistication can still look charming when it gets a chance to wear ^{such} lovely gowns.
