KING & TROOPS.

His Majesty the King paid a visit of inspection to various training establishments Somewhere in England. He watched Bren gun practice and bayonet practice. Later the Company Commander of the A.T.S. was presented to him --- She was Mrs Corbett and actually the first recruit.

KING AND QUEEN AND BALLOONS.

On another occasion, with the Queen, the King visited a balloon barrage unit, and Her Majesty showed great interest in a baby blimp. The crews of these balloons are a most resourceful group of men --- they take great pride in their domestic arrangements. And the Queen again was interested in the carrier bicycle which brings them their hot meals. They're lovely!

CHELSEA PENSIONERS.

Now that we're in the start of another war, here is a story of those whose wars are far behind them. Chelsea Pensioners were reviewed by Lord Milne.

The Boys of the Old Brigade march in ---- followed by the younger old boys of 1914 - 1918 --- the British Legion.
