

QUEEN. ✓

On the approach of the anniversary of Armistice Day for the World War, Queen Elizabeth visited the British Legion Poppy Factory at Richmond. Poppies for remembrance of those who gave their lives in 1914 - 1918 are still made by those who carry their wounds from a quarter of a century ago. Our hopes of lasting peace that were born then have ~~xxxxxxxxx~~ gone sadly astray --- but we must never abandon hopes because once they failed to materialise.

MERCHANT GUNS. ✓

British Merchant ships have been equipped with guns to protect them against the menace of the U-Boat. Members of the crew receive instruction from Naval gunnery experts -- and already these guns have tested their mettle ~~against~~ on the high seas. In this war, as in the last, we have heard of merchantmen who returned as good as they got to the raider who struck without warning.

CAR CRASH. ✓

Here is a story from the land where peace reigns..... buy it's so dangerous we'd better call it somewhere in America. Lucky Teter's latest trick ~~is~~ a jump over seven cars and a truck ~~which~~ ~~was~~ ~~not~~ ~~out~~.
