

CHURCHILL, GORT AND IRONSIDE.

The First Lord of the Admiralty refused the offer of a shrapnel helmet when he was in France, preferring this nautical model for his inspection of a unit of the Royal Air Force

Mr Churchill was also present in the garden of General Gort's chateau when the Legion of Honour was conferred upon the B.E.F. ~~General~~ Commander-in-Chief and on Sir Wdmund Ironside. The decorations were conferred upon the British Army leaders by General Gamelin, Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies. The Grand Cross of the Legion of Honour is the highest honour France can bestow

Guards of honour were formed by the 8th Regiment of Zouaves and the Welsh Guards, and after the impressive ceremony the Generals took the salute at the march past.
