KENNEDY IN LONDON.

Having ended his holiday in America, Mr Joseph Kennedy, ~~the~~
~~the~~ Ambassador to Britain, came on to London alone. Welcome back! And thanks, Mr Kennedy, for coming back ~~with~~ with such a cheery smile. It's as good as a torch in the black-out.
KING AND QUEEN.

The King and Queen have made a brief tour of Lambeth and Kennington, visiting air raid shelters, old tenants' hostels and welfare centres. At the welfare centre they watched the despatch of comforts for men on active service; already over a thousand parcels have been sent off from this small depot.
WALKER OUTBOARDS.

Hallo, America! On the waterways of Seattle there's an outboard championship. Forty miles an hour over a wet course that bends like a snake with lumbago.

This will remind you --- it won't be long till the Grand National.
