

JAPANESE BLIZZARD.

646

Tokyo has endured the heaviest snowfall in its history. A blizzard of an intensity quite unknown in Japan covered the fragile houses and buried the streets to a depth of many feet. Thank goodness in Britain since the war started we haven't had any weather.

But here's a contrast, just to warm you up. Sunny Florida --- and as usual at this time of the year water sports are at full swing. Here's a good 'trick, if you can do it.....stepping over a heap of water at 40 miles an hour.

Four's company --- but the jealous boy friend on the other string is making himself a nuisance.

It's just fun --- but sometimes always a nuisance
