

647

AUSTRALIAN LIGHT HORSE.

Who says the horse is finished? On a snow-white beach in Western Australia the Australian Light Horse parade --- a magnificently body of men, magnificently mounted

Morning inspection is taken by Colonel White on his famous racer, Second Wind. And then the troop moves off on manoeuvres They sink knee deep in the shifting, heavy sand --- ground that ~~would present insurmountable difficulties~~ would present insurmountable difficulties to a mechanized unit. But the Light Horse keeps moving steadily forward --- training for the business of the Empire.