BELGIAN ARMY.

It has been amply demonstrated for the benefit of those who didn't know that no country within striking distance of Germany is safe. It is well therefore that while Belgium maintains her neutrality she keeps her defence forces at concert pitch. In 1914 the tiny Belgian^{an} Army rendered invaluable service to the Allies in holding up the march of German aggression..... she wrote a chapter in history as gallant and as memorable as Finland in 1940. On the occasion of the anniversary of the Late King Albert, the present King Leopold reviewed troops in Brussels. There are no frills on the Belgian army; if necessary it could go into action at a minute's notice.

Across the world, there isn't much danger of invasion yet. But events move so quickly in these days that every country that values its freedom must be constantly on the watch. America takes no chances. The training of her fighting forces is exhaustive and severe
