KING, Queen, etc.

The King has paid visits of inspection to ~~units~~ of the British Army at Dover and Shorncliffe. Accompanied by Field Marshal Lord Birdwood His Majesty watched the work of detachments of the mechanized army.

While the King was at Dover, the Queen was making a visit of inspection elsewhere. One of the regiments reviewed by her Majesty was the London Scottish. As always, the Queen took a particular interest in the Scottish regiment.

On another day the King and Queen attended jointly a little ~~fun~~ function devoted to another side of army life. Nine mobile canteens were being dispatched by the Salvation Army for service with the B.E.F. General Carpenter was one of the ~~officers~~ Salvation Army officers presented to their Majesties in the ~~quadrangle~~ quadrangle of Buckingham Palace.
