

A new contingent to fight in the Battle of Britain; safely escorted across the ocean by the Navy, and the Air Force <sup>more</sup> great soldiers from Canada. Many Americans have enlisted in the Canadian ranks to fight the common enemy of civilized mankind; and all these grand young men from the new world have one thought; in the words of Major-General Odlum, their C.O. "Germany's asked for it. She'll get it."

Here are some of the other Canadian troops in London attending a concert ~~the show was entertained by~~ Carroll Lewis and his Discoveries <sup>the first</sup> ~~that~~ two discoveries are Pam and Claudia Lester. A Canadian soldier says Hallo to the family.

Followed by the Bird Imitator. And Patterson and While finish it off.

Out in the open there was a sports meeting for the Australians. It was August Bank Holiday week-end, but how the old place has changed. Typical sports of the Commonwealth have made at least one corner of the Old Country look <sup>almost</sup> like Sydney Showground.

This is no game for the man who can't hang a picture without hitting his thumb.

Somewhere else in Britain --- athletic sports for the A.T.S. Army life evidently agrees with them; in the summer sunshine nothing is too strenuous. Last year they were probably lying on Margate beach in a bathing costume, telling the boy friend they were boiling. This year they're cooking. Chief event of the day is the obstacle race. Roars of applause for the winners show how well the girls get on together. But this presumably means that the corporal is ~~xxxxx~~ no lady.
