AMERICAN LEGION.

~~The American Legion pays a grand parade with its own parade~~
America stages a grand parade to celebrate Independence

Day. The flags of the Legion pass in review -- the march past strikes an impressive note.

Major-General Parker of Texas takes the salute as Uncle Sam's veterans swing by. The big business is on, and there goes a battleship. It's ^{an occasion} ~~also~~ to remember, as the Legion is feted on the day that America will never forget.

ARMY REVIEW.

And here is man-power in mass formation -- At Fort Ord, California, the Seventh Division of the new Army passes in review --- Well-trained, and physically fit, they march 18000 strong. A million and a half men are undergoing training to turn them into soldiers like these-- discipline is the predominant note.

Machine-power too-- The new Army is being built up as a mechanised striking force-- with increasing modern equipment.
