KING & QUEEN AT MERCHANT NAVY SCHOOL.

This was the visit of the King and Queen to the Royal Merchant Navy School --- a school for the orphaned children of men of the Merchant Service. A big proportion of these little boys and girls have lost their fathers through enemy action in this war. These children have lost their fathers because we need food and petrol now waste it. The school is supported entirely by voluntary subscriptions and donations --- ~~and~~ their Majesties' visit was an appreciation of Britain's heroic Merchant Navy.
