

AMERICA WILL DELIVER THE GOODS.

America's Merchant Navy will bring the weapons of victory to the ports of the British Empire and our Allies. The United States House of Representatives has passed the Bill that says so --- and our greatest friend abroad has struck one more great blow at Hitler.

The stars and stripes that hitherto proclaimed untouchable neutrality, now signal unmistakably that they joined our flags in the ocean battle. The neutral sign gives way to guns, for American Merchant ships will now shoot back like the British do. And all the vast tonnage of her mighty fleets and all her fleets in building, will march the sea-lanes to deliver the goods --- and to hell with U-Boats. Thus ^{has} America ~~has~~ answered the call of our Prime Minister.

For more than two years, Britain's ships have borne the burden of unceasing attack. But now our courageous Merchant Navy ^{has} ~~has~~ been given help, on the grand scale. At one stroke our resources are doubled; and America's merchant marine ^{has} ~~has~~ the protection of Uncle Sam's Navy.

They've no illusions in Washington. Listen to Navy Secretary, Colonel Knox.
