CHURCHILL IN AMERICA --- PREMIER'S GREAT SPEECH TO CONGRESS.

Two great democracies, resolved on victory. An historic picture of two great leaders determined upon the extinction of the menace of Hitler; on the utter extermination of the Nazi rule of terror; — with the aid of the Soviet Union and China and the other members of the Grand Alliance.

Mr. Churchill went to Congress to make his great speech to America's Government; and he reminded them that his mother was American --- in a typical Churchill sentence. Then, of course he had a new word for the Duke

As the Premier spoke, we received these pictures from Canada; our great Dominion on the American Continent is on the alert against this new threat from Japan. Along the Pacific Coast, Canadian infantry, artillery and the Royal Canadian Air Force are ready to meet an attack if it comes.

In America Colonel Knox attended the annual graduation of U.S. Navy Cadets --- but this year the ceremony was charged with greater significance.

The attack without warning on the ^{American} Navy at Pearl Harbour has welded the United States into closer unity. A great surge of patriotism has swept the American Continent. ~~It may be a long war, but we are determined to win.~~

A.R.P. has come to life; in every city and town in the danger zone they are applying the lessons already learnt in Britain. Where there's light there's life; and to the Axis, where there's life is a good place to drop bombs. In a world at war we receive from the corners of the earth evidence of the growing brotherhood of the free men who fight tyranny. For the reason, we must go back to Mr.

Churchill in Congress.
