13/2/42 M. H-99.

A mass meeting at the Central Hall Westminster, offered greetings to the Soviet Union to mark their gallant stand against Germany, and their great counter-offensive.

On the platform were representatives of the Allied Governments, and the flags of those nations were presented to the Soviet Ambassador, M. Maisky.

First, the Union Jack

Then India

The flag of Poland

The Stars and Stripes

The flag of fighting China

The flag of Czecho-Slovakia

The flag of the Free French

The flag of Jugo-Slavia

The meeting closed with the playing of the Internationale

And finally, Rule Britannia ^{because} we're not getting downhearted ^{even if we have run into foul weather} ~~because the tide is running against us.~~

The ~~twenty one~~ ^{Continents} Republics of the American ~~Contest~~ met at Rio de Janeiro to decide whether all should break off diplomatic relations with the Axis. Speaker for the United States was Mr. Sumner Welles, and the Western Hemisphere ^{nations all recommended a} ~~showed the world that they were united Republics --- all agreed to~~ break with Germany, Italy and Japan.---
