

MRS. ROOSEVELT.

Finally, a display at the London Headquarters of the National Fire Service. Mrs. Roosevelt was accompanied by Mr. Herbert Morrison and saw some of the men and women who played such a heroic role in the great fire of London. ~~They look efficient and confident; in London things are quiet at present;~~ in London things are quiet at present; but they make you feel that they will rise ~~rise~~ to the occasion as nobly again if the need should arise. Mrs. Roosevelt thought so too.

At her home in America, another distinguished American citizen was returning from a world tour. Mr. Wendell Willkie has talked with the leaders of the United Nations, and in particular he had encouraging news from the Soviet Union.
