

PRINCESS ELIZABETH.

954 4.30. pm. Sir V.
23/2/43. Belnote.

Princess Elizabeth sent a message to all Girl Guides on the Guides' "Thinking Day" --- which is the birthday of the late Chief Scout and of Lady Baden Powell. These charming pictures are interesting even to those of us who are not Girl Guides --- showing, as they do, another stepping-stone in the lives of our two royal daughters.

NEGRO LIBERTY BOAT.

Proof that all races are ~~having~~^{braving} the perils of the Atlantic in our fight to beat the U-Boat --- the first coloured skipper to make the crossing with his genial crew. They were welcomed at one of our ports in the west by the Lord Mayor whom they entertained to lunch. Obviously the old days of salt meat and dog-biscuit are over and done with: this crew eats oranges and on a clear day you can see the smile from the Crystal Palace.

TRIPOLI SERVICE.

After the occupation of Tripoli by the Eighth Army, a special service was attended by General Montgomery, his officers and men:

~~He had a solemn occasion in the place that~~ was once the pride of Italy's Empire.
