

2064

Into London Airport comes an Elizabethan airliner - with a very important passenger on board - it's Sir Winston Churchill who is welcomed home by Sir John Dalby - Commandant of the Airport.

After his short holiday in the South of France, the Premier looked fit and well and ready for work, as he walked to his ~~walking~~ car where Lady Churchill was waiting inside to greet him.

Soon after - another airport arrival was Mr Anthony Eden - who has been convalescing in Greece after his recent operation. ~~The Foreign Secretary stressed that he, too, was ready for work.~~ ^{WAS ASKED WHETHER HE WOULD MAKE A GRADUAL RETURN TO WORK.} ~~SOUND~~

And now comes news - following a full-scale Cabinet Meeting, ~~which was~~ (attended by the Foreign Secretary and other Ministers) that Mr Eden resumes his post at the Foreign Office.

At Portsmouth, a reception was held ^{on} ~~aboard~~ H.M.S. Victory - Nelsen's famous flag-ship - for delegates of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation.

The visitors, were, of course, escorted around the ship - not forgetting the spot where Nelson fell, mortally wounded, in the hour of victory at Trafalgar. (Stover)

The delegates, (who form the Council of Permanent Representatives of the Organisation) were visiting Britain in connection with "Exercise Mariner" - the full-scale Naval Operation in which three hundred warships have taken part.