

London: A proud day for Old Comrades and Serving Members of the famous 601 (County of London) Squadron, Royal Auxiliary Air Force, as they parade on the lawns of Buckingham Palace...

The occasion was the Presentation of a New ~~Squadron~~ Standard by their Honorary Air Commodore, the Duke of Edinburgh, who first ^{CARRIED OUT} ~~inspects~~ the Squadron... AN INSPECTION.

~~and~~ Escorting Prince Philip as he inspects members of the Old Comrades Association is Group-Captain ^{R.G.} Shaw, D.F.C. - a member of our Organisation ~~The Standard was awarded to the Squadron by the late King George the Sixth~~
~~is presented to~~

The Standard was awarded by the late King George the Sixth...and now the Duke presents it to the Squadron - which will soon celebrate thirty years of outstanding service... (3)

The Standard is ~~presented to the Squadron~~ ^{MARCHED PAST THE DUKE FIRST IN SLOW TIME, THEN IN} ~~in review order~~ ^{FINALLY THE SQUADRON ADVANCES} in review order... A squadron that claimed over a 100 planes destroyed, during the Battle of Britain, and ~~then~~ saw more ^{FINE} ~~outstanding~~ service in North Africa and Italy.

~~The Squadron~~ ^{THEN A} loyal tribute to the Queen from Britain's volunteer airmen SOUND...