

Norwich: Home for the festive season, the First Battalion the Royal Norfolk Regiment, with bayonets fixed and colours flying, march proudly past the City Hall. ~~There, an official welcome was given by Her Majesty's Lieutenant~~

~~for Norfolk with a message expressing the~~
The Battalion recently returned after three years in Korea, and a Service of Commemoration in the Cathedral was attended by representatives of City and County. And the Queen's representative presented to the Colonel of the Regiment - a Silver Chalice and Paten to mark the Battalion's return home.

In contrast, from Sunderland, come pictures of disaster. A huge department store stands a gutted shell after the ^{town's} biggest fire this century in ~~the~~ town. A hundred firemen fought the blaze, which began at night, with damage estimated at more than a million pounds.

hot reception ^{FOR} the kindly Yuletide visitor ^{BUT Yuletide} ~~is~~ SEE - WE'LL TURN UP LATER ON.

Meanwhile, in Paris, ^{there's} window-shopping as usual - a joy for young and old alike. So we enlisted the services of another cameraman to film this round-the-houses trophy race.

But soon there was competition from the air....Oh well! These cameramen will go to any lengths to film a story. SO WE'LL TAKE A PLANE ~~to~~ - to Adelaide - for the annual parade that ushers in the goodwill season. And though it's high summer, the kiddies still enjoy those age-old winter tales in a fairyland setting.

~~and look~~ WHAT DID WE TELL YOU!
~~There's~~ There's Old Man Happiness himself - spreading good cheer on his way to a roof-top rendezvous.

In Seattle - the forgotten inmates of the local dog's home share the goodwill bounty... Hot dogs for lonely pups. AND IT'S SOOO OLD SANTA AGAIN!

O.K. come on out - let's start the party games. "Hunt the Sausage?"
You're cold. Getting warmer. You're hotter. Hot Dogs! ~~but~~, this must be our family tree? ² BUT WHAT'S A PARTY WITHOUT ENTERTAINERS? ² SO.

WE FIND THEM IN HANNOVER AND IN FESTIVE MOOD.

~~At Ilford, the antics of Mr Punch bring a little happiness into the lives of Spastic Children.~~
At Ilford, the antics of Mr Punch bring a little happiness into the lives of Spastic Children.

There are many thousands of these crueling-handicapped youngsters. Now devoted parents have formed a National Society to raise funds