

London-- Ready for the festive season-

Nov 29th. '55.

London--- The approach of the season of goodwill attracts country cousins and city dwellers alike to the busy West End Stores, proclaiming yet again the age-old message of Christmas.

~~The~~ The exciting and much-loved figures of our childhood days come back to life- <sup>bringing promise</sup> ~~relating~~ <sup>young people</sup> ~~we~~ hope to find in that ~~fills~~ well-filled magic stocking.

Inside the shops, there's something for every taste- from the trains so beloved by Junior- to the dolls for <sup>his</sup> Sister, ~~and~~ ~~not to mention all the latest wonders of mechanical toys~~

~~later through~~ The Chimps Orchestra- SOUND-

With the coming of darkness, the shops become glittering beacons of light in a jewelled fairyland setting (2)

Yuletide in Regent Street is a gay affair- with silver, gold, green, red and pink aluminium "snowflakes"- beguiling ~~the~~ the window-shopping crowds with their seasonable greetings of good cheer.

~~perhaps perhaps, perhaps, of a white Christmas-~~

Congratulations- Sir Winston- 81 wonderful years.
