

Smithfield Show

At Earl's Court, the great Exhibition Hall spotlights agricultural progress - from the latest types of tractor to the finest cattle - taking part in the Smithfield Show.

From Sandringhamhad come this "Red Poll" - exhibited by the Queen

The Show features only meat-producing animals - so this could be the first introduction to your Christmas fare.

A prizewinner measured in plates of roast beef. So glad to have met you America Dock strike

America: The dock strike that, until recently, paralysed the entire Eastern seaboard - brought an unique occasion to the Hudson River.

Lying at two piers were America's four largest passenger liners - headed by the United States...the first time the "big four" have ever docked in one port, at the same time.

the headlines - a house in Massachusetts - made entirely of newspapers -

Built by Mrs Stenman and her late husband, the house has stood thirty years - and even two hurricanes couldn't blow it down.

The fireplace is a real picture - made from coloured prints in America's

Sunday newspapers

Besides other furniture the piano is made from papers - so everything is played in rag-time.

Amas cards

London: During a ceremony at the Mansion House, the Lord Mayor, Sir Cullum Welch, displayed a Christmas card - copies of which are being sold to aid the Hungarian Relief Fund.

The design has been specially drawn by the Italian artist Annigoni - famous for his portrait of the Queen.

The Card is based on the world's first Christmas greating - published over one hundred years ago.
