St David's Day-

Mar 1st. '57.

London-- On a day of National rejoicing, Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother arrived at Chelsea Barracks to share St David's Day celebrations with the Welsh Guards.

This ~~inexhaustible~~ age-old custom has long been honoured among Welsh units and as Colonel-in-Chief of the Regiment, the Queen Mother received a leek. 15

Then came the traditional presentation to officers of the Regiment.

5 And here the Guardsmen are wearing the proud symbol of their native Wales. 18

Highlight of the celebrations was the Regimental tribute to their Royal visitor- as they marched past in ~~rend~~ salute. 5 13

And to round off the St David's Day occasion in London, three hearty cheers for their Colonel-in-Chief. 6 14
