

Germany: Gone are the days when toys were still-life subjects in the land of make-believe. For scientific progress has invaded the nursery- and automation has come to toyland.

This doll is an example. It's almost human movements can be operated by remote control from a distance of over a hundred yards.

And far from being a child's <sup>dream</sup> ~~delight~~ - manufacturers attending this toy fair at Nuremberg delighted in this baby doll to call their own..

For young Davy Crocketts - there were toy Indians to offer real opposition in <sup>those</sup> ~~the~~ Wild West campaigns on the living-room floor...

The tiny weapons can <sup>certainly find their marks.</sup> ~~actually be despatched at their target.~~

In New York - one ingenious Toy Fair exhibit helps the junior baseball fan to keep his eye in...

And for the young sister, well! The "Tumble Tub" <sup>IS THE HIT OF THE SHOW AND</sup> makes life all of a whirl. <sup>FOR A GIRL</sup>
