

East Berlin: A sequel to the tragic rising in Hungary - as the newly-formed Labour Fighting Groups parade through the Soviet-controlled Sector ~~following their first full-scale manoeuvre...~~

Supported by light armoured police-cars and motor-cycle patrols, this "Worker's Militia" ^{HAD} staged a five hour mock battle against what were termed "counter-revolutionary" forces...

But the street-fighting only succeeded in reviving unhappy memories of the East German rising in 1953 - when Soviet tanks crushed the workers into submission...
